Branch Benefits Consultants

Quincy L. Branch is a second generation insurance professional who realized his entrepreneurial talents at an early age. A graduate from University of Nevada Las Vegas (UNLV) with a B.S. in Business Administration-Management, Quincy started his insurance career in college working for his father's agency while still working on his degree.

Quincy acted on his ambition to be a business owner in 1999 establishing Unity Sanitary Supply Inc. which served MGM Mirage, one of the largest gaming operations in the world and Southwest Gas, one of Nevada's largest utilities. Quincy decided to rejoin his father, Aubrey Branch, and helped to build Nevada's most successful independent minority owned insurance agency, Branch-Hernandez and Associates. He would later expand on the family owned business creating Branch Benefits Consultants, an independent insurance agency that focuses on providing value to their clients by offering customized consulting along with exceptional customer service. He has since progressed to purchase 6 additional agencies.

Quincy L. Branch is a leader in his industry and community. He serves as a deacon at his church and volunteers at various charities in Southern Nevada. In 2011 he was appointed to sit on the IIABA's National Young Agents Committee and served as Chairman of that committee. As for the business community, Quincy has served on the Urban Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors, was elected as Chairman on the Board of Directors for the National Association of African American Insurance Agents and in 2013 was honored by Vegas, Inc. as one of Las Vegas's 40 under 40. In 2018, he was called to serve on the Government Affairs Committee of the IIABA.
